

Impact of fuel additivation

Statistical analysis and modeling

A fleet of 29 trucks simultaneously tested a new fuel and a new lubricant designed to reduce diesel fuel consumption under real-world conditions.

Analysis of the raw data revealed no impact on consumption. After modeling, the corrected data revealed significant savings.

Launch of a marketing campaign highlighting a certified savings ~4%.